Monday 18th June

BIBLES BEFORE THE YEAR 1000. Professor Michelle Brown (IES). Day course.
INTRODUCTION TO LATIN PALEOGRAPHY. Dr Marigold Norbye (UCL). Day course.
WESTERN SCIENTIFIC MANUSCRIPTS. Professor Charles Burnett (Warburg). Half-day (morning)
IDENTIFYING THE PROVENANCE OF MEDIEVAL MANUSCRIPTS. Mr Peter Kidd. Day course.

Tuesday 19th June

VERNACULAR EDITING: CHAUCER AND HIS CONTEMPORARIES. Professor Anthony Edwards (De Montfort University). Day course.
INTERMEDIATE LATIN PALEOGRAPHY. Dr Marigold Norbye (UCL). Day course.
LATE ANGLO-SAXON AND OTTONIAN ILLUMINATION. Dr Carol Farr. Day course.
AN INTRODUCTION TO GREEK PALEOGRAPHY. Dr Annaclara Cataldi Palau (Royal Holloway, University of London). Day course.

Wednesday 20th June

EARLY MODERN LATIN PALEOGRAPHY, 1500–1750. Miss Elizabeth Danbury (UCL) and Dr Nigel Ramsay (UCL). Day course.
MEDIEVAL DEVOTIONS AND LITURGY I. Dr Jenny Stratford (IHR) and Dr Rowan Watson (V&A). One or two-day course.

English Paleography. Dr Debby Banham (Birkbeck and Cambridge). Full day. It is possible to take this as a half-day course on Anglo-Saxon Paleography (morning) or Middle English Paleography (afternoon).

Thursday 21st June

EARLY MODERN ENGLISH PALEOGRAPHY, 1500–1750. Miss Elizabeth Danbury (UCL) and Dr Nigel Ramsay (UCL). Day course.
HISTORY OF LATIN SCRIPTS I: ANTIQUITY TO CAROLINE MINUSCULE. Dr James Willoughby (New College, Oxford). Day course.
MEDIEVAL DEVOTIONS AND LITURGY II. Dr Jenny Stratford (IHR) and Dr Rowan Watson (V&A). Day two of a two-day course.
MEDIEVAL MANUSCRIPT PAINTING (A PRACTICAL COURSE). Ms Patricia Lovett (Calligraphy and Lettering Arts Society). Day course.

Friday 22nd June

TRANSCRIBING AND EDITING MANUSCRIPTS: PALEOGRAPHY AFTER 1700. Dr Wim Van Mierlo (IES). Half-day (morning).
HISTORY OF LATIN SCRIPTS II: PROTOGOTHIC TO HUMANIST. Dr James Willoughby (New College, Oxford). Day course.
WRITING AND READING MEDIEVAL MANUSCRIPTS: FOLIO LAYOUTS IN CONTEXT. Dr Anna Somfai (Central European University). Day course.
GERMAN PALEOGRAPHY. Dr Donitha McEwan (Warburg Institute) and Dr Claudia Wedepohl (Warburg Institute). Day course.

A display of mediaeval writing materials, which includes the possibility of practical use of certain mediaeval items, presented by Alan Cole, Chair of the Museum of Writing, will be exhibited during the lunch breaks on Wednesday and Thursday, and is open to all participants of the Summer School.

For further details and application forms see: http://ies.sas.ac.uk/cmps/events/courses/SummerSchool
London Palaeography Summer School
18th–22nd June 2012

Monday 18th June
BIBLES BEFORE THE YEAR 1000  Professor Michelle Brown (IES)  Day course
This course charts the formative period when the Bible gradually developed, subject to various cultural influences. Some texts became part of the accepted canon, others were rejected as apocryphal or heretical.
The physical evidence of surviving Bibles is examined, from humble fragments to illuminated manuscripts.

INTRODUCTION TO LATIN PALÆOGRAPHY  Dr Marigold Norbye (UCL)  Day course
A brief overview of the main elements of Latin palæography, concentrating on scripts of the later medieval period (1100–1500). It consists of practical exercises, transcribing several different types of script. Participants must have at least elementary Latin.

WESTERN SCIENTIFIC MANUSCRIPTS  Professor Charles Burnett (Warburg)  Half day (morning)
An analysis of manuscripts of texts on mathematics, astronomy, medicine and astrology (using facsimiles), examining tables and diagrams and the role of the book in medieval science.

IDENTIFYING THE PROVENANCE OF MEDIEVAL MANUSCRIPTS  Mr Peter Kidd  Day course
Discover how to use different forms of evidence to identify the origins and subsequent provenance of medieval manuscripts. Participants are encouraged to submit their own problem cases in advance, for possible examination as part of the course.

Tuesday 19th June
VERNALIS EDITING: CHAUCER AND HIS CONTEMPORARIES  Professor Anthony Edwards (De Montfort University)  Day course
Examines the history of English vernacular editing, focusing on Chaucer, looking at procedures for establishing texts and the use by editors of manuscripts and other evidence, and considering the evolution of the roles of collocation, amendment, annotation and manuscript description in preparing editions as well as the concept of ‘edition’ itself.

INTERMEDIATE LATIN PALÆOGRAPHY  Dr Marigold Norbye (UCL)  Day course.
Aimed at those who attended the previous day’s introduction to palæography wishing to gain more transcription practice. Also open to students with some experience in Latin palæography wishing to refresh or improve their skills. Participants must have at least elementary Latin.

LATE ANGLO-SAXON AND OTTONIAN ILLUMINATION  Dr Carol Farr  Day course
Biblical, liturgical and devotional manuscripts of the late Anglo-Saxon and Ottonian periods display a new wealth of iconographic themes and a greater variety of types of full-page pictures. This course will introduce students to some of the most important iconographic themes and provide tools for investigating their significance and context.

AN INTRODUCTION TO GREEK PALÆOGRAPHY  Dr Anna Cammidge (Royal Holloway University of London)  Day course
Starting with a brief investigation into the transmission of the texts and its importance for our culture, after a quick look at manuscripts written in manuscript, the course then concentrates on the Greek mini-

Wednesday 20th June
EARLY MODERN LATIN PALÆOGRAPHY, 1500–1750  Miss Elizabeth Danbury (UCL) and Dr Nigel Ramsay (UCL)  Day course
Concentrating on documents written in Latin during the period 1500–1750, practical guidance on the transcription, understanding and interpretation of a range of the documents employed in personal, financial and administrative transactions in England and Wales. Competence in Latin is essential, knowledge of post-medieval letter forms highly desirable.

ENGLISH PALÆOGRAPHY  Dr Debby Benham (Birkbeck and Cambridge)  Day course
About manuscripts written in English in the Middle Ages. The main emphasis is on script, but considers other aspects of manuscript production and connections with cultural developments. The morning covers the pre-1066 period, and the afternoon follows later developments in English manuscript writing to the flourishing of Middle English.

NB It is possible to take this as a half-day course on Anglo-Saxon Palaeography (morning) or Middle English Palaeography (afternoon).

MEDIEVAL DEVOTIONS AND LITURGY I: BOOKS FOR MASS AND OFFICE  Dr Jenny Stratford (HR) and Dr Rowan Watson (V&A)  One- or two-day course
What is the difference between a missal and a breviary, a psalter and a book of hours? Who owned these books and who left them in their wills? This course will provide an overview of the liturgical and devotional manuscripts and the early printed books of Pre-Reformation Europe, their production and decoration.

THOUSAND YEARS OF THE HISTORY OF SCRIPTS: A SCRIBE’S PERSPECTIVE  Ms Patricia Loret (Calligraphy and Lettering Arts Society)  Day course
A practical study of the changes in historical letter-forms and the ways in which the letters were formed. Focusing on major writing styles, letters will be analysed and the way in which they were written will be examined. Writing materials and manuscript production will also be considered.

Thursday 21st June
EARLY MODERN ENGLISH PALÆOGRAPHY, 1500–1750  Miss Elizabeth Danbury (UCL) and Dr Nigel Ramsay (UCL)  Day course
This course will concentrate on documents and records written in English during the period 1500–1750. Its aim is to provide a practical introduction to the transcription, understanding and interpretation of a range of the documents employed in personal, financial and administrative transactions in England and Wales in this period. It is open to beginners.

HISTORY OF LATIN SCRIPTS I: ANTIQUITY TO CAROLINE MINUSCULE  Dr James Willoughby (New College, Oxford)  Day course
This course will provide a detailed historical overview of the scripts in use in the Latin West from antiquity to ca. AD 1100, introducing key landmarks along the road and the varieties of terms used. (Not suitable for students who attended last year’s course unless they want to revisit the same material in more detail.)

MEDIEVAL DEVOTIONS AND LITURGY II: BOOKS FOR MASS AND OFFICE  Dr Jenny Stratford (HR) and Dr Rowan Watson (V&A)  Day two of a two-day course
Day two is normally available only for those who have taken day one. This session will be held at the V&A Museum.

MEDIEVAL MANUSCRIPT PAINTING (A PRACTICAL COURSE)  Ms Patricia Loret (Calligraphy and Lettering Arts Society)  Day course
This course will follow through the process of preparing parchment, transferring a copied image to parchment, using real gold leaf, painting with the very fine sable brushes similar to those of medieval illuminators and ending up with a copied medieval miniature to take home. (No experience required.)

Friday 22nd June
TRANSCRIPTION AND EDITING MANUSCRIPTS  Dr Wim Van Meerlo (IES)  Half day (morning)
An introduction to the basic characteristics of ‘modern’ manuscripts produced from 1700 onwards. The main focus is on handwriting and its changes from the 18th to the 20th century. Apart from practical exercises in reading and deciphering manuscripts, consideration will also be given to commonly-used transcription methods and good editorial practices.

HISTORY OF LATIN SCRIPTS II: PROTOGOTHIC TO HUMANIST  Dr James Willoughby (New College, Oxford)  Day course
This course will provide a detailed historical overview of the scripts in use in the LatinWest from 1100 to 1500, introducing key landmarks along the road and the varieties of terms used. (Not suitable for students who attended last year’s course unless they want to revisit the same material in more detail.)

WRITING AND READING MIDDLE PALÆOGRAPHICAL: FOLIO LAYOUTS IN CONTEXT  Dr Anna Somfai (Central European University)  Day course
A close look at folio layouts of manuscripts can reveal medieval writing and reading practices and the cognitive processes behind the design. The course looks at the production of and consecutive engagement with manuscript layout and at how the design is connected to the transmission of ideas and to teaching and learning practices.

GERMAN PALÆOGRAPHY  Dr Dorothea McEwan (Warburg) & Dr Claudia Wedepohl (Warburg)  Day course
A reading class to familiarise students with a number of different handwriting styles. A variety of texts will be examined and read (17th–20th c.). Documents from different centuries and handwriting styles can be selected to suit the needs of the participants. Please state your research interests when applying.

A display of medieval writing materials, which includes the possibility of practical use of certain medieval items, presented by Alan Cole, Chair of the Museum of Writing, will be exhibited during the lunch breaks on Wednesday and Thursday, and is open to all participants of the Summer School.

Further details on the website: http://ies.sas.ac.uk/cms/events/courses/SummerSchool and from:

Miss Zoe Holman, Centre for Manuscript and Print Studies, Institute of English Studies, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU
Tel: +44 (0) 20 7862 8680
Fax: +44 (0) 20 7862 8720
Email: cmps@sas.ac.uk