Dear Mr. Acting Secretary,

2398/7/40

You will see from the other letter which I am sending you today regarding the American bases in Bermuda and the Caribbean that the point regarding St. Lucia which you raised in your letter of October 30th is very largely covered by that letter. As is made clear in the schedule annexed to my other letter, the British authorities entirely agree with the definition of the proposed seaplane base as set out in your letter and equally agree that work may be begun in this area forthwith.

It was however suggested in your letter that such land within this area as belonged to private owners should be leased direct from these owners by the United States authorities. I have been asked to explain that His Majesty's Government feel it very desirable that in this in all similar cases the Colonial Governments concerned should in the first place acquire any privately-owned land and should then complete the transaction by leasing the land to the United States authorities. The views of the British Government on this point have already been explained informally to the Navy Department who raised no objection and indeed welcomed this altered procedure. I hope therefore that the suggestion will be equally acceptable to the State Department.

If it is agreed that this procedure shall be adopted in respect of privately owned land, a number of minor legal questions affecting the same issue will require to be settled. If it is agreeable to you I would suggest that these matters might be discussed between the legal adviser to this Embassy, Mr. Foster, and some member of Judge Hackworth's staff.

Believe me,
 Dear Mr. Acting Secretary,
 Very sincerely yours,

(SGD) N. M. BUTLER
